

Infrastructure Services

- Do you need wireless services such as design, configuration or installation as part of your enterprise mobility solution?
- Do you need mobile data capture hardware installed safely and securely within your vehicles?
- Do you lack the in-house expertise to carry out these services effectively?

Spirit offers a complete, end-to-end outsourced service for wireless and vehicle installations that will save you time, trouble and money.

Wireless services

Our comprehensive solution includes:

Site survey: We provide a complete Radio Frequency (RF) survey with a detailed report on how best to RF enable your site. The survey acts as a Blue-print, incorporating industry best practices and monitors for any potential interference.

Installations: We will then install your entire wireless system including data cabling, wireless access points, antennas and wireless switches, ensuring that it will provide the maximum coverage and performance across all areas.

Health check: We provide a service to check for any degradation in the performance of your wireless local area network (WLAN). This includes the design of your existing wireless network, a full inspection and functional test of your system and a comprehensive check of data speed and coverage.

RF hardware provisioning: We will also source, assemble, configure and install your radio frequency (RF) hardware devices (including GPRS and WiFi settings).

The benefits:

No hassle: We provide everything so that you can focus on your core business. Our service includes a complete, end-to-end wireless solution, incorporating design, configuration, installation and support

Cost savings: This is a very cost-effective approach, carried out by professionals, that eliminates the need for in-house expertise. It also means that no expertise is needed to operate the system, as we provide everything you need.

Reliability: We supply and install systems that are highly reliable and easily scalable – so they can grow as your business grows.

Vehicle installations

We offer a vehicle installation service, including:

Vehicle audit: We will carry out a full vehicle audit service at your site. This includes an inspection of your vehicles to identify the best and safest mounting locations for your mobile devices and an audit report.

Installation: All vehicle installations will be carried out onsite by our experienced engineers. The installation includes all of the power and power management equipment needed to provide effective and consistent communications in the vehicle, whilst in remote locations.

The benefits:

Time savings: Outsourcing your vehicle installations with Spirit will save you considerable time and trouble.

Speed and efficiency: We provide you with a single point of contact for all aspects of the installation.

Reliability and effectiveness: Our installation services are carried out by experts who are committed to providing a service of the highest quality.
